

China

Travel Log

China is known to be the king of technology as well as Japan. In china people consider it to be full of colorful places that I have experienced. There are many friendly people and not forgetting the martial arts is a major importance in the culture which I find really staggering.

As I started my joyful holiday I stepped out of Beijing airport and the smell that hit my nose smelt like noodles and some other rather odd Chinese food but never the less I was astonished to see the amount of restaurants there was all on each road. I realized this would be a nice time to approach this country because it was nice and warm but not too hot that would have been unbearable. Obviously I had had come for reason no.2 and that was to update my electronic equipment and get the latest Sony psp. Tourist do tend to visit this huge island around June July because that's when they have more weeks to spend here, the temperature is unbearable but the sights and cities are still open so they can still have a nice time as long as they equip themselves with a portable fan! Winter in China is very cold, up to 3 meters of snow, Beautiful to visit.

China is considered to be leading in electronic industry, and that will be probably one of the few things u will notice when u step into this place. The cinemas are not one big screen placed in front of hundreds of people but 3d graphics around your head in every cinema u go to obviously only in the city where billions of money is made. The city is packed with so many people and tourists are always getting in the way of everyone that seems to know where they are going in the hectic place, tourists that do not know where to go should purchase a map this is very handy to use but best to get one quickly before u get lost!

China visiting a city that is filled with wonderful culture, friendly people, many of the world's most revered treasures, such as The Great Wall and many other attractions.

At The Temple of Heaven you can hear an echo of a whisper down a long corridor.

Visit the Beijing Planetarium and the Beijing Aquarium for more wonderful sightseeing. Then, eat, drink and celebrate at the nightlife spots throughout the area. Fun and happiness and lots of smiles are abundant in this most phenomenal city of Beijing. I got drunk 5 times in a week and but still it was a pleasurable holiday for me.

For a very interesting visit to an unusual museum I would advise you to take the time to visit in the Beijing Big Bell Museum for an Afternoon of learning about bells. In its six halls you will see a collection of over 600 bells, some are antiques and some are not. Named for its giant bell inside it is located in a Buddhist temple that was built in 1733.

Beijing is going to be the site of the 2008 Summer Olympics and they received this honor because of their luxury accommodations, exquisite cuisine, culture and territory. There are great people and in a very prosperous area. With all there is to see and do and places to stay you will enjoy your trip to the highest extent. You will want to see The Forbidden City with its 9,000 rooms, yes, that is correct, rooms numbering 9,000 in a residence that was used for the Qing Dynasty

While you are in the area you will definitely want to take part in the nightlife the city has to offer. Whether you love the ambience of fine dining and want to enjoy the Chinese cuisine or you wish to dance the night away, Beijing has quite a lot to offer you. One of the most highly recommended restaurants in the area is the Quanjude Roast Duck Restaurant. With its authentic atmosphere patrons can choose their duck before it is roasted. It is the oldest and most famous Peking duck restaurant in Beijing. This has rated it one of the top 50 restaurants in the entire world and it lives up to this honor.

When you are ready to kick up your heels and dance the night away try The Den. Looks like an old Chinese opium den with live music and plays 1980's disco music well into the night. If you like Blues music you will want to try The Big Easy, which has blues playing every night after 9 and a great menu too. My advice for people like myself that don't enjoy 1980's music but more into the latest tracks of hip hop, R n B, live breathe bhangra I suggest that you take your mp3 player and listen to them because you simply don't get that in china, never the less it is great fun to fit in with their style and culture.

By Akash Bodalia
10r

