

____William James's focus is on the individual, taking the route of a psychologist to determine the validity of an experience.____

____they are unable to produce empirical evidence, some are vague, even in classification, and they are unreliable to be tested as they oppose all the rules of nature. The fact that there are more weaknesses than strengths means we cannot reliably validate religious experiences, and therefore they cannot be given as solid valid evidence for the existence of God.

- -
- -
- <http://www.religion-online.org>
- <http://www.reference.com>
- <http://www.radicalacademy.com>